The small dimensions of the device and its classic appearance are one of its advantages. This is made possible, among other things, by the smaller USB-C port, which will be the standard in the European Union.High power The charger has a power of 20 W and supports fast charging protocols PD 2.0/3.0 and PD PPS via the USB-C port. The device also supports the QC 4.0/4+ protocol.It is ideal for charging smartphones and small consumer electronics. The PD MXTC-06 1 x USB-C wall charger from Maxlife is a device that, thanks to Power Delivery (PD) and Quick Charge (QC) technology, will quickly charge any device. The PD and QC standards allow for precise adjustment of the charging power to the connected device. When the device and charger are connected, it determines what current can flow between the devices. Only then is the device charged at the maximum possible speed. This reduces the risk of battery damage.
