The GaN PD QC TC-06 wall charger provides simultaneous and efficient charging for two devices. With a power output of 45 W and support for various fast charging protocols, including Power Delivery and Quick Charge, it is an excellent support for modern mobile devices such as smartphones and laptops that require quick power. It is equipped with two ports - USB-A and USB-C. The latest GaN (gallium nitride) technology used in this charger has allowed for the creation of a device with increased efficiency while maintaining compact size and low weight. This technological innovation has enabled a complete departure from the traditionally used silicon in chargers. Its small dimensions and lightweight design make the Forever charger a convenient travel companion and suitable for everyday use. It features a smart current parameter adjustment system tailored to the needs of connected devices. Regardless of the type of device, the system automatically adjusts optimal current settings, ensuring fast and safe charging. The charger can power not only new phone models but also laptops that have fast charging capabilities. It offers support for the less common charging function Oppo VOOC/Oppo Dash Charge/OnePlus Wrap Charge, which distinguishes it from other non-original models.
