Protective glass with a hardness of 9H and an aluminum frame guarantees reliable protection of the lens against drops and scratches. Thanks to the precisely fitted frame, installation is quick and easy – just place the cover over the camera, gently press, and remove it. The product provides complete protection without affecting the quality of photos, allowing you to take pictures in daylight without distortion and glare. An additional advantage is the wide compatibility with most cases available on the market, which facilitates everyday use. The glass effectively protects the camera, allowing you to enjoy excellent photo quality for a long time.
