Tempered glass is the perfect choice for phone protection. It is made with case-friendly technology, which means it is compatible with most covers and cases. It features the highest hardness level of 9H (this is the maximum score on the scale), which contributes to its high resistance to scratches. At the same time, it is extremely thin, with a thickness of only 0.4 mm. It boasts a transparency level of 99%, ensuring that the colors displayed by the phone remain virtually unchanged. Installation of the glass is very simple, and the package includes all the necessary components for proper installation.
