AUDI IML Big Logo MagSafe CaseThe stylish collection of protective cases for iPhone phones has been created in collaboration with the German automotive giant - the elite brand Audi. This minimalist case is the perfect combination of incredible functionality with an elite appearance while ensuring maximum protection for your device. Treat yourself to an extraordinarily fashionable accessory for your iPhone. The case grabs attention with its extraordinary design. This collection will delight even the most refined tastes - a characteristic feature of each case is the delicate scale motif, which is very prominent on the lower part of the case and then gently fades toward the upper part. The main decoration of this collection is a large silver ring, inside which a large Audi logo is placed - it emphasizes the elitism and authenticity of this product, as well as the functionality of this collection. The graphics are printed on the cases using IMD (In-Mould-Decoration) technology - they have been hot embossed on the surface of the case, and then coated with a delicate layer of TPU, making them resistant to abrasion and ensuring they will maintain their pristine appearance for a longer time. An additional decoration of this collection is the gently wavy edges of the case - they not only enhance the appearance of the case but also make using the case even more comfortable and enjoyable - thanks to the irregular surface, the case fits securely in the hand. Top-quality materials The production of the minimalist line of cases has utilized the highest quality materials. Each case from the IML Big Logo MagSafe collection has been made from high-quality durable plastic that is abrasion-resistant. The case consists of two elements - a back made of strong and hard polycarbonate (PC) and sides made of flexible thermoplastic polyurethane (TPU). This combination ensures the case protects against damage while being extremely easy to install. The gently raised outer edges protect the phone's screen from damage, while the raised edges around the camera lens protect the optics from breaking or scratching. Forget about difficult installation of the case! Installing the case on the phone is extremely easy, and the case itself is thin enough that it does not significantly bulk up the device or affect its usage. Cases from this collection feature all the necessary cutouts for ports and interfaces, and also have integrated covers for the side buttons. The gently raised edges of the case protect the screen and camera lens from scratches or breakage. Wirelessly charge! The magnetic ring hidden inside the case not only guarantees compatibility with the MagSafe wireless charger, allowing for fast and convenient charging, but also provides stable holding of the device during the charging process, eliminating potential shifts or interruptions in power. As a result, the case becomes not only an aesthetic addition but also a functional tool for everyday use.
