The Spigen Tough Armor MagSafe case is an enhanced version of its predecessor, offering even better protection and user convenience. Equipped with a magnetic ring, it ensures full compatibility with the Apple MagSafe system, allowing for quick and easy wireless charging. Thanks to its two-piece construction made of abrasion-resistant thermoplastic material and a reinforcing polycarbonate frame, the case effectively protects the device from drops and impacts. Inside, there is an additional layer of technology foam that increases the level of cushioning. Raised edges around the camera and screen protect them from scratches, while precisely crafted button covers and cutouts for ports ensure a comfortable user experience. The Tough Armor has undergone rigorous durability testing, earning military certification MIL-STD 810G-516.6
