A bedside alarm clock with a night light is a functional device that combines several practical solutions, ideal for a child's room, a teenager, or an adult. The built-in rabbit figurine serves not only as a charming decoration but also as a night light that gently illuminates the room, creating a pleasant atmosphere. It allows for the setting of three alarms and also has a snooze function. The switch-off is done by touch, which enhances convenience. The LCD display shows the current date and time, and thanks to automatic brightness adjustment, it ensures comfortable use both during the day and at night. The sleep function, in which the light gradually dims over 30 minutes, makes it easier for those who prefer gentle lighting before sleep to fall asleep.
