The MXWB-02 Maxlife children's writing board is a gadget designed specifically for kids. The board is not only practical but also features an interesting design. At the top, there are ears and eyes of a rabbit that move in response to motion, adding an element of fun and interaction. The set also includes a non-smudging pen that allows for easy and precise writing and drawing on the board. The board works similarly to a tablet, as it responds to the movement of the pen. This allows the child to create drawings and write without the need for paper or traditional paints. The board with a completed drawing can be locked, preventing accidental deletion. After finishing, the image can be easily erased using a button located at the bottom, making room for creating more artwork. The MXWB-02 board allows the child to focus, calm down, and relax. Through this form of play, the child has the opportunity to unleash their creativity and can enjoy spending time for long hours. The line drawn by the pen is colorful, and the screen surface is large, providing even more space for creation. One of the additional advantages of the board is that it is dust-free and safe for the child's eyes. This ensures that parents can be confident that their child's play is safe and does not have any negative health effects. The board is also handy, lightweight, and easy to use, making it an ideal gadget for both home use and during travel.
