Maxlife projector with drawing table MXDP-100 hides as many as three diverse functions, ensuring endless fun. The set includes everything needed for creative play: a board for writing and drawing with dry-erase markers, a projector for copying images, and a flashlight. The board allows for drawing and writing, and with the projector, pictures can be copied from the included discs, creating unusual decorations and backgrounds for play. When the projector is turned on, the light shines, and once a disc is inserted, slides are displayed. The bear's head can be directed forward to project slides onto the wall, and with the leash attached, the projector can function as a flashlight. The bear's head can also be used as a projector for tracing slides in a notebook. On the base, children can directly draw with markers, and drawings can be erased with the sponge included in the set. Maxlife projector with drawing table MXDP-100 is a multifunctional toy that combines learning and play. Creating images using the projector enhances children's manual skills and helps develop precision and accuracy, which will be essential in the future when learning to reproduce patterns or write. The projector will attract all children to play with its appearance and functionality. The set includes 6 discs – 3 with images for tracing and 3 with photos, totaling 48 images, 12 markers in various colors, and a sponge for erasing drawings.
