The FT-100 Forever Locator is a device that allows you to keep your belongings under control. It works with the Apple Find My app, which enables you to track your items in real-time and play a sound alert to help you locate them. The locator indicates the last known position of the item through the app and allows for navigation, making it easier to reach your lost item. Enabled notifications for moving away from the item help prevent its loss. When the item is lost, the user will receive a notification about its finding. An important feature of the locator is privacy protection – it detects other locators that are not linked to the device, preventing potential tracking. In the event of losing the locator, it can be marked as lost, preventing it from being paired with another device. In lost mode, you can also enter a message with contact information that will be displayed on the finder's screen. The device is waterproof to IPX5 level, which means it is resistant to rain. It is powered by a replaceable CR2032 battery.
