With two USB-C and one USB-A, it can quickly charge three devices at once, making it perfect for multi-device users. It supports PD 65W fast charging through its USB-C port while the USB-A port offers a max 30W charging. Built-in GaN smart chip greatly enhances power density and conversion rate to deliver a more efficient and fast charging experience while bringing a 13% enhancement in thermal performance and lowering the charging temperature to 10% cooler than other average 65W chargers. It is 53% smaller in size than other standard 65W chargers. The foldable connector allows you to easily slip it into a pocket to carry it anywhere. An intelligent current shunt system enables this charger to automatically identify the supported devices while making a suitable current distribution to deliver a faster and safer charging experience. Nine protection settings, such as overcharge protection, overcurrent protection, short circuit protection, etc., defend your devices against potential dangers while charging, which results in a safer and more reliable charging experience.
