PR9BK

A portable radio with an analog tuner is a perfect solution for every music lover while working in the home garden or relaxing by the lake. In combination with the unique design and small size, it will be perfect both for outdoor meetings with friends and for everyday home use. The intuitive operation and simplicity of the PR9BK model from Blaupunkt will surely delight every demanding fan of traditional radio receivers. A large and clear frequency scale available in the front part of the housing, a large side knob for tuning radio stations and a convenient small knob for adjusting the volume significantly improve the convenience of using the device. The headphone socket located on the side of the housing will allow you to listen to any FM / AM broadcast, e.g. in a park or camping site, without fear of disturbing other people nearby. Connect wired headphones to the radio and enjoy the music whenever you feel like it! A clean and clear reception of the radio signal of your favorite radio stations is ensured by a fold-out telescopic antenna, and the built-in broadband speaker and an amplifier with an output power of 0.8 W RMS will guarantee their appropriate volume. The PR9BK model has two power options. Mains operation (AC 230 V ~ 50 Hz) by connecting the mains cable to the socket and battery operation using 2 UM1 (R20) batteries. This type of solution offers you unlimited listening to music, no matter where you are, at home or outdoors. The convenience of using the PR9BK portable radio is complemented by the low weight of 0.65 kg and its compact size. In addition, the manufacturer has equipped the device with a handy, foldable handle, which greatly facilitates its transport and storage.
